RULES AND REGULATIONS.

War Office, May 1, 1813.

RANK OF REGIMENTS.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1st. The Light Artillery. | } According to the numbers of the regiments respectively. |
| 2d. The Light Dragoons. | |
| 3d. The Foot Artillery. | |
| 4th. The Infantry | |
| 5th. The Riflemen. | } According to the numbers given to them respectively by the General commanding the District. |
| 6th. The Volunteers in the service of the United States, and | |
| 7th. The Militia Drafts | |

This regulation is confined to parades. On all other occasions, regiments will be drawn up in the way which shall be directed by the general, or other commanding officer.

RANK OF OFFICERS.

In all cases in which command shall not have been specially given, the eldest officer, whether of cavalry, of artillery, or of infantry, will command.

Where a controversy concerning rank shall arise from the sameness of date in commissions, it shall be determined by reference to former commissions in the regular service; and if none such should have been held, by former commissions in the militia.

Brevet rank gives no precedence nor command, except on detachments; nor shall persons having such rank only, be included in the roster of officers for any duty other than that performed by detachments, and to which they shall be specially assigned.

Officers of the regular army of the same grade with those of the volunteers and militia, have precedence of these, whatever may be the dates of their respective commissions.

There is no precedence between staff departments. The officers assigned to these, will take rank, 1st, from the brevets they hold, and 2d, from the rank they respectively have in the line.

RULES WITH REGARD TO PROMOTION.

1. Original vacancies will be supplied by selection; accidental vacancies by seniority, excepting in extraordinary cases.

2. Promotions to the rank of captain, will be made regimentally; to that of field appointments, by line; the light artillery, dragoons, artillery, infantry and riflemen, being kept always distinct.

3. No officer shall be entitled to the pay, rations, or emoluments annexed to any office, until he shall have notice of his appointment thereto from the war department; or from a general officer, with respect to appointments in the gift of generals.

COMPLIMENTS TO BE PAID BY THE TROOPS.

The highest military honors are payable to the president and vice president of the United States, whether in uniform or not.

To the secretary of war, to major generals commanding districts or corps of the army, and to governors of states, when in uniform, the same honors will be paid; with this exception, that to them the standards of the cavalry will not be dropped in saluting.

All other major generals are entitled to three ruffles of the drum, with presented arms, and to the dropping of all colors other than the standards.

Brigadier generals commanding districts or corps of the army, are entitled to the honors payable to major generals not commanding in chief.

All other brigadiers are entitled to two ruffles of the drum and presented arms.

To colonels, the guards of their own regiments turn out and present their arms, once a day; after which, they only turn out with ordered arms.

To lieutenant colonels and majors, their own guards turn out with ordered arms, once a day.

When a lieutenant colonel or major shall command a regiment, their own quarter guards pay them the compliments due to a colonel.

When a general or other officer, entitled to a salute, shall pass in the rear of a guard, it will not face about, but stand with shouldered arms.

When a general or other officer, entitled to a salute, shall pass guards while in the act of relieving, both guards will salute, taking the word of command from the senior officer of the two.

Military compliments are to be paid to officers of the navy, when in uniform, agreeably to their rank, as follows, viz.

Commodores with broad pendants, have the same compliments as brigadier generals; and all other post captains, those due to colonels.

All guards are to be under arms when an armed party approaches their posts, and to parties commanded by a commissioned officer, they will present arms and beat a march, and the officers will salute.

The colors of a regiment passing any guard, will be saluted, the drums of the regiment saluting in turn.

When two regiments meet on a march, the regiment of inferior rank, will halt, form, and salute the other, which proceeds on its march, with swords drawn, bayonets fixed, trumpets sounding, drums beating, and colors flying, until it shall have cleared the front of the latter regiment.

All regiments marching with standards or colors, have claim to the compliments of any regiment they may meet on their march not having standards or colors, without regard to the rank of the particular corps.

SALUTES.

The national salute shall be conformable to the number of states composing the union.

A national salute shall be fired on a visit to the post from the president of the United States.

Fifteen guns shall be fired on a visit from the vice president, the secretary of war, secretary of the navy, a major general of the army; and thirteen guns on that of a brigadier general, when commanding a district. No other persons shall be entitled to salutes, and no salutes will be fired to any person but on his arrival.

No salutes shall be fired to foreign ships or vessels of war, but in return, and in every case their salute shall be returned gun for gun, notice being given.

No salutes shall be fired to public armed vessels of the United States, under the rate of a frigate, and to these only in return, gun for gun, notice being given.

At 1 o'clock, on the fourth day of July of each year, a national salute will be fired from all the military posts and forts in the United States.

Salutes shall not be fired from guns of higher caliber than twelve pounds.

DUTIES OF ADJUTANTS GENERAL.

These will be divided under the following heads, viz:

Distribution of orders:

Details of service:

Instruction of the troops in the manual exercise, and the evolutions and arrangement of them when brought into action; and

Direction of the military correspondence.

1. Distribution of orders.

The general orders of the day having been received from the commanding general, the adjutant general or his assistant will carry them to the office of distribution, where they will be recorded in a book kept for that purpose, whence, at an hour which shall have been previously assigned, they will be transcribed by the aids-de-camp of general officers, by majors of brigade, by the adjutants of all separate corps less than brigades, by a deputy or assistant deputy quarter master general, by an hospital surgeon, or an hospital surgeon's mate detailed for that duty by the senior surgeon, and some commissioned officer from each corps of engineers; and when so transcribed, they will be carried without delay to the corps to which these officers respectively belong, and be there promulgated, under the orders of the officers commanding the corps, and become to them a rule of conduct.

2. Details of service.

These shall be made agreeably to prescribed rules, and the usage of war.

All corps will furnish according to their strength—the longest off duty, the first on duty. When it may be found practicable, the troops are to act by companies, battalions or regiments.

Return detachments will not be excused from duty more than two days.

Seniority of corps, with respect to troops, and priority of rank, with respect to officers, will entitle to precedence for command; subject to deviations under the orders of the commanding general.

In details the following gradation will govern:

1. Reconnoitring parties and corps of observation.
2. Foraging before the enemy.
3. Detachments and outposts.
4. Guards of trenches.
5. Van guards in approaching an enemy.
6. Rear guards in retiring from an enemy.
7. General courts martial.
8. Guard of the general commanding in chief.
9. Camp or garrison guards.
10. Other guards mounted from the grand parade.
11. Guards of general officers and the staff according to rank.
12. Pickets.
13. General fatigues.
14. Police.

In the routine of duty the law of detail will always give it to the officer longest off duty, and when two have been credited with the same grade of service, on the same day, reference to the former tour on the roster, will determine the detail.

Should a tour of service of higher grade occur to an officer, while on any subordinate duty, he shall be relieved, and the tour on which he is, be passed to his credit.

If an officer's tour for general court martial, picket, or fatigue occur, while he is on any other duty from the grand parade, he shall not be relieved, but stand for the next tour.

3. Instruction of the troops.

This shall be governed by circumstances, as to time, place, and frequency; of which the commanding general will judge. The mode of infantry discipline, adopted by regulation of the war department, will be observed.

4. Military correspondence.

Reports of services performed, and demands for courts of enquiry, or courts martial, shall be made to the adjutant general. All returns intended to exhibit the strength of corps, made agreeably to the 19th article of war, and accounting for the absent non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates, reports of the hospital and of the quarter master's departments; and of ordnance and of ordnance stores attached to the army; shall also be addressed to the adjutant general; out of which he shall form a general return, to be transmitted monthly, for the information of the war department; and those transmitted for the months of June and December, shall be accompanied with lists of the officers serving in any garrison or corps of the district or army so returned, specifying their names, rank, and places of station. Returns of ordnance and ordnance stores, shall be made agreeably to forms prescribed by the commissary general of ordnance. Departures from these forms and inattention to the injunctions above, will be regarded and punished as acts of positive disobedience.

July 9, 1813.

The returns required of adjutants general, for the information of the war department, will exhibit regiments and detachments of regiments, separately and by name.

War Office, May 1st, 1813.

DUTIES OF INSPECTORS GENERAL.

These will be divided under the following heads, viz.

Mustering and inspecting troops of the line, and militia detachments serving with them:

Selecting places of encampment, and posting guards:

Superintending the police of the camp and of the march:

Inspecting parades; and Making half yearly confidential reports to the War Department, of the state of the army, division or detachment to which they belong.

1. Mustering and Inspecting the troops of the line and Militia Detachments

Troops of all descriptions shall be mustered once in two months, for payment, nor shall any payment be made but upon muster rolls signed by an inspector general, or his assistant, or in the absence of these, by some officer of the army of the United States, especially assigned to this duty by the general commanding the district in which the said troops so mustered shall be found. Three copies of these rolls shall in all cases be made; one of them to be deposited with the paymaster of the district, and two of them to be sent to the War Department, the one for the use of the accountant of the said department, and the other for the paymaster of the army.

Semi-annual musters of the whole army, whether regular or militia, shall be made on or before the 1st day of January and 1st day of July, in each year; and rolls thereof, in alphabetical order, forwarded to the War Department, as promptly thereafter as possible.

Inspections of the troops are of two kinds, stated and occasional. The former shall take place monthly, and (as often as may be practicable) on the last day of each month; the latter as often as the general commanding the district, the chief of the staff, or the inspector general, may think proper. The general object of both, shall be to ascertain the exact state of the arms, equipments, and clothing, and of every other circumstance tending to show the actual condition of the troops so inspected.

Dragoon, artillery, and all other horses belonging to the public, will also be subjects of inspection, quarterly; those unfit for service will be branded in the presence of the inspecting officer, with the letter C, and immediately transferred to the quarter master general's department, for public sale; nor shall any horse so branded, be thereafter accepted by any inspecting officer.—Returns of cast horses will be made quarterly.

A return of every inspection, shall be made and deposited in the office of the inspector general, for the information of the general commanding the district; and half yearly returns of inspection shall be made to the War Department.

2. Superintending the police of the camp and of the march.

It will be the duty of this department, to designate all guards for the security and good order of the camp, to take charge of all prisoners made by these or otherwise, to examine and report the several cases to the commanding general, and to take his orders in relation to their future disposal; to inspect the state of tents, barracks, and hospitals, to punish any want of care or cleanliness therein, to regulate all suttlers and markets within any camp, cantonment, or garrison; and to inspect and enforce the order of march, and to punish all infractions of it.

3. Inspecting parades.

The troops detailed from each regiment for the service of the day will be brought to the parade ground of the brigade, under the command of the senior officer present, and on duty; these detachments will there be embodied and marched to the ground of division parade, accompanied by the adjutant of the day, under command of the senior officer; the whole will then be marched as aforesaid, to the ground of general parade, accompanied by a major of brigade, detailed for that service by division orders; where they will be received by an inspector or assistant inspector general, reviewed and detached for the service of the day.

4. Selecting places for encampment and posting guards.

This duty shall be performed under the directions of the commanding general; and the inspector in performing it shall call to his aid an officer from each corps of engineers.

5. Making half yearly confidential reports to the war department.

These reports will relate to the conduct of corps and to that of individuals composing them. They shall be submitted to the general commanding the army, and shall receive from him his remarks in writing, before they are transmitted to the War Department. They shall specify—

1st. The progress made by each corps or regiment, in military discipline in general, and particularly in a knowledge of the evolutions prescribed for the practice of the troops; in habits of obedience and of attention to personal appearance, and to the rules of interior economy.

2d. Whether the field and company officers respectively know their duty, and are able and willing to perform it? whether the subalterns are severally sober, active, and industrious, careful to acquire knowledge, and to communicate it to the non-commissioned officers and privates? whether the adjutant, quarter-master, and paymaster, are competent to the duties assigned to them? whether the regimental books are kept with accuracy and regularity, and whether the non-commissioned officers perform their duty with promptitude and effect?

3d. Whether the meat and bread furnished by contract, are of good quality, and whether these and other articles, composing the ration, are regularly issued?

4th. Whether the forage be good, and of sufficient quantity?

5th. Whether the hospital supplies and regulations be sufficient, and regularly dispensed in the one case, and observed in the other?

6th. Whether there has been any irregularity in the proceedings of courts martial, or in the execution of sentences pronounced by them? and

7th. Whether the quantity of ammunition in store is sufficient, and well secured, and whether the arms and equipments are in proper order?

On each of these heads there will be a special report, and in what may be said on the second, all possible frankness is expected. One motive the more to this, will be found in the solemn declaration of the government, that while it shall be its invariable practice to distinguish and to reward merit of every description and in every grade, all pretensions not having that foundation, however propped and patronised by names, will be utterly disregarded.

QUARTER MASTER GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT.

It shall be the duty of this department to provide—

1. For the quartering and transporting of troops.

2. For transporting all military stores, camp equipage, and artillery.

3. For opening and repairing roads, and constructing and repairing bridges, which may be necessary to the movement of the army, or of any detachment thereof.

4. It shall be the further duty of this department to receive from the departments of purchase and of ordnance, all clothing, camp equipage, arms, ammunition, and ordnance; to transport the same to the place of destination, and there to make distribution thereof, agreeably to the direction given to the articles by the commissary general of purchases, and to the orders of the general commanding the district to which they are destined.

Quarter masters in the intermediate districts, between the places of receipt and delivery, will be held responsible for the safe transportation of all articles through their respective districts.

Articles for conveyance by this department, shall be transported in bulk as much as possible, and with each quantity of stores conveyed, the quarter master at the post from which it is sent shall furnish a conductor who shall have charge of it, and for whose conduct, in the safe keeping and delivery thereof, the quarter master shall be responsible.

5. It shall be the duty of the department to provide all forage and fuel for the use of the troops, and have the same transported and issued agreeably to the regulations which follow :

6. To provide good and sufficient store houses, for provisions deposited under contract between individuals and the government, and to appoint store keepers (for the custody of the said provisions, or other articles, the property of the public, which may be placed there) who shall give security for their safe keeping and delivery, under the orders of the commanding general of the district, or of the quarter master general; and to find means of transporting the same, when so required by the engagements of the government.

7. To make returns, half yearly, to the secretary of war, of all horses and draft oxen, or horses and oxen on hire, in public service, showing their number, employment, and condition; and a similar return of all other articles, the property of the public, of which the department may be possessed.

8. To make and transmit to the secretary of war, monthly summary statements of the accounts of the department, and quarterly accounts thereof, agreeably to the forms which shall be prescribed by the treasury department.

9. All money drawn for the use of the department, within any military district, shall be drawn and accounted for by the senior officer of the department within such district.

No purchases, on public account, will be made by the quarter master's department, but of the following articles :

1st. Of forage.

2d. Of fuel.

3d. Straw for soldiers' bedding.

4th. Articles of stationery for regimental and garrison service.

5th. Dragoon and artillery horses; and horses, oxen, waggon, and carts, for the transportation of baggage; boats for the same; and

6th. Boards, planks, nails, and other materials, for constructing and repairing barracks, hospitals, and bridges.

In all cases in which gun carriages and artillery waggons may want repair in the field, the senior officer of artillery is to see the necessary repairs done, and for the expence of these, will make his draft on the quarter master general's department.

When any building occupied by troops as a barrack shall have been left by them in a filthy state, or shall have suffered injury by them, the quarter master of the post or of the party succeeding to them, shall, in the one case, have the quarters cleansed, and in the other repaired; and the expense of so doing shall be deducted from the pay of the officers commanding the party which immediately preceded in the occupation of the buildings so cleansed and repaired.

Regulations which shall govern the allowance of quarters, of forage, of fuel, of straw for bedding, of stationery, and of the transportation of the baggage of officers, when ordered on distant commands.

1. Of Quarters.

To a major general, three rooms and a kitchen.

To a brigadier general, the adjutant and inspector general, principal quarter master general, and commissary general of ordnance, each, two rooms and a kitchen.

To each adjutant general, inspector general, quarter master general, and field officer of a regiment, to the assistant commissary general of ordnance, and to each deputy quarter master general, one room and a kitchen.

To each assistant adjutant general, assistant inspector general, topographical engineer, major of brigade or brigade inspector, deputy paymaster general, captain of the line, judge advocate, hospital surgeon, regimental surgeon, and chaplain, one room.

For all other commissioned officers—one room to every two officers; and to each mess of six or more officers, one kitchen.

To twelve non-commissioned officers, musicians, or privates, one room, or (in the summer) a kitchen.

The eldest officer to have the choice of quarters.

2. Of Fuel.

The allowance of fuel, from the last day of April, to the first day of November of each year, shall be at the rate of one cord of wood per month for each kitchen (or room occupied for cooking.)

At all posts, garrisons or cantonments within the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and Ohio, one cord and half of a cord of wood per month from the last day of October, to the first day of May of each year, for each room and kitchen occupied agreeably to the preceding regulations; and at all other posts, garrisons, or cantonments, during the same period, one cord of wood per month for each kitchen or other room occupied as aforesaid.

Each commanding or senior officer at any separate post, whatever may be his rank, will be entitled to fuel for one kitchen.

The allowance of wood for the quarters of the sick will be regulated by the commanding officer and surgeon.

No compensation in money to be made, in lieu of allowances of fuel or of quarters; and no fuel to be drawn but within the month for which it is due.

No fuel furnished for the use of a garrison, post, camp, or cantonment, shall be removed therefrom, but by the quarter master attached thereto; and any overplus of fuel beyond what has been used, or may be necessary for use, at such post, shall revert to the United States.

Coal may be issued, in proportion to the cost of wood, in lieu thereof.

3. Of Forage.

To all horses in actual service, there shall be allowed 14 pounds of hay and 12 quarts of oats, or in lieu of oats eight quarts of corn, per diem.

Officers will be allowed to draw forage in kind, when on actual service in the field, where their duties require them to be mounted, for the number of horses they actually keep in service, not exceeding the following rates:

Major generals, seven.

Brigadier generals, five.

Colonels of artillery and infantry, four.

Lieutenant colonels and majors three; and

All other officers entitled by law to receive money in lieu of forage, when the same shall not be drawn in kind, two each.

4. Of Straw.

One truss of straw, weighing 36 pounds, is allowed for every two men.

At the expiration of 16 days, each truss is to be refreshed with 8 pounds. At the expiration of 32 days, the whole straw is to be removed, and a fresh bedding of one truss to be furnished; and so on every succeeding period of 16 and 32 days.

The same quantity of straw is allowed for servants, or batmen not soldiers, or for washerwomen, in the proportion of one woman to every seventeen men.

The straw is to be changed for the sick in hospital as often as may be deemed necessary by the surgeon, or (in his absence) by the mate.

Requisitions for fuel or straw must state the number and rank of the officers, the number of non-commissioned officers and privates, servants, batmen, and washerwomen, for whom it may be demanded, and certified by the commandant of the regiment, garrison or recruiting rendezvous.

No fuel or straw shall be drawn for officers or for soldiers, whilst on furlough; nor any allowance made to them for the same.

5. Of Transportation.

To each company or detachment of 100 men, shall be allowed one four-horse waggon and team, or 2 two-horse waggons and teams, for the conveyance of baggage, and camp equipage, consisting of one common tent, one iron kettle, and two tin pans, for every six men.

When officers are ordered on distant commands, the following rates are to govern in the allowance made to them for the transportation of their baggage, at two dollars per 100 pounds per 100 miles.

|-------------------------------|------------|
| To a Major general, | 1,250 lbs. |
| Brigadier general, | 1,000 |
| Colonel, | 750 |
| Lieutenant colonel, | 600 |
| Major, | 500 |
| Hospital surgeon, | 750 |
| Captain, | 400 |
| Surgeon, | 400 |
| Subaltern, | 300 |
| Surgeon's mate, | 300 |
| Cadet, | 200 |

The most direct post route will determine the distance, for the amount of transportation, whether performed by land or water.

To every officer ordered on general courts martial, temporary commands, or on other duties, on the sea board, or in the Atlantic states, there will be allowed, if he so elect, in lieu of the transportation of his baggage, his stage hire: no delay being admitted on the road. Receipts from the stage offices, or certificates on honor, of the performance of the duty, will be required.

No allowance for transportation of baggage to officers fulfilling the first order after appointment.

6. Of Stationery.

To a major general, or other officer commanding a district, so much stationery as may be necessary for the discharge of his public duties.

To every other general officer 24 quires of paper per annum.

To every officer commanding a separate post or garrison, of not less than two, nor more than five companies, 12 quires per annum, and one blank book of 3 quires.

To every officer commanding a separate post or garrison of not more than ten companies, 18 quires per annum, and one blank book of 3 quires.

To a colonel or other officer commanding a regiment, for the use of himself and regimental staff, 18 quires per annum, and a blank book of 3 quires.

To a major six quires of paper and one blank book per annum.

For the use of every company, whether in garrison or otherwise, 12 quires per annum, and a blank book of 2 quires.

For the use of every other commissioned officer in the army of the United States, 2 quires per annum.

For the use of every officer and garrison, a proportion of other stationery, at the rate of fifty quills, as many wafers, and a paper of ink powder to each six quires.

Annual Estimates.

It shall be the duty of this department, to make out and transmit to the war department, on or before the first day of December in each year, annual estimates of the forage, fuel, straw for bedding, articles of stationery, dragoon and artillery horses, oxen, waggon, and carts for transportation of baggage, &c. and of all other articles the furnishing of which appertains to the said department.

November 9, 1812.

Officers, prisoners of war, are allowed for transportation of baggage, from the places where they are paroled, to their respective homes, unless transportation is provided by the enemy, or the government.

July 9, 1813.

In addition to the provision made for repairs of buildings occupied as barracks and quarters, it is ordered, that where private lands and buildings are occupied by the troops of the United States, a reasonable compensation shall be made to the proprietor by the quarter master of the district or post: and when the rate of compensation cannot be satisfactorily agreed on, discreet and disinterested persons shall be appointed, by the quarter master and proprietor, to appraise the rent, which will be settled by the quarter master, and the damage repaired as before provided.

“Every officer of the army, whose duty requires him to be on horseback in time of action, and whose horse shall be killed in battle, shall be allowed a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars, on making satisfactory proof of the loss and value of the horse so killed; the proof required shall be by affidavit of the quarter master of the corps to which the owner may belong, or of two other credible witnesses.”*

The quarter master's department will adjust and settle all claims conformably to the above provisions.

Double rations are allowed to the commanding officers of the following military posts and stations, viz.

ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT.

May 1, 1813.

1. Of Laboratories.

There shall be three principal laboratories in the United States, one in the neighborhood of one in the neighborhood of and one near

At each of these laboratories, the head of the department will cause to be bought ten acres of land, and have thereon erected workshops competent to the accommodation of forty workmen, and barracks for the further accommodation of the same, with the necessary magazines and store-houses.

The workmen at each of the said laboratories, shall be engaged for a term of service not less than five years, and at the rates prescribed by law; and at each, there shall be one master wheelwright and carriage maker, and one master blacksmith, the whole to be under the direction of the commissary general, or of some one of his officers. It is, however, understood, that if workmen cannot be engaged for a term as long as 5 years, the commissary general may engage them for a shorter period. And he is also authorised to employ women and children at low wages, in all work which can be as well performed by them, as by men; and accounts regularly presented and certified by him, of the amount of all wages for work done under this regulation, shall be paid by the paymaster of the army.

At these workshops, shall be made, all gun carriages, ammunition waggons, travelling forges, and every other apparatus for the artillery, and shall be prepared all kinds of ammunition for garrison and field service.

2. Inspection of Powder, &c.

It will be the duty of the commissary general of ordnance, to call upon the commissary general of purchases, for the names and places of residence of all persons engaged in making powder, cannon, cannon shot, or other ordnance stores, under contract with the United States, and on notice of the time of delivery of such articles, he will cause the same to be duly proved and inspected. Until thus previously inspected and proved, no ordnance, cannon balls, shells, shot, or powder, shall be received or paid for, by any public agent of the United States.

3. Distribution of Ordnance.

The orders of general officers for the supply of ordnance, ammunition, carriages, &c. shall go no farther than to direct the number and calibre of the guns, the quantity and kinds of ammunition, necessary for the service, and to command the preparation and delivery of these, and other enumerated articles, to some officer charged with its conveyance to the camp or garrison of the general requiring them.

The artillery will be distributed for field service into divisions or half divisions.

A division of artillery will consist of six pieces of ordnance, viz. four cannon of the same calibre, and two howitzers, or six cannon of not more than two calibres.

A half division of artillery will consist of two pieces of cannon of the same calibre, and one howitzer, or of three pieces of cannon of the same calibre.

To each pair of three pounders, will be allotted one ammunition waggon, or caisson.

To each six pounder, one ammunition waggon, or caisson.

To each howitzer, two ammunition waggons, or caissons.

To each gun of larger calibre than a six pounder, destined to act with the army in the field, two, or at most, three ammunition waggons, or caissons.

To each division of artillery will be allotted three waggons, provided with assorted and spare articles of equipment, ammunition, harness, intrenching and artificers' tools, &c.

To each half division will be allotted one waggon, with assorted and spare articles and tools, as above.

To each division of flying artillery and every two divisions of foot artillery will be allotted one travelling forge.

The proportion of overplus small arms, for the infantry, may be one fourth of the number of effective troops in the field: these shall be placed in reserve, at some safe and convenient situation, near the army.

The proportion of musket cartridges for the infantry, shall consist of thirty rounds per man, accompanying the troops in ammunition waggons, and such additional quantities as may be judged requisite, shall be placed in reserve, as provided for small arms in the preceding paragraph.

Waggons will be provided with mining and laboratory tools and utensils, together with additional quantities of intrenching and artificers' tools, whenever the nature of the service may render it necessary.

4. Preservation and safe keeping of Ordnance Stores, &c.

It will be the duty of the commissary general of ordnance to take measures for the completion, reparation, and preservation of all ordnance, ammunition, artillery carriages, and machines, in the respective fortresses, magazines, and arsenals.

5. Returns of Ordnance Stores, &c.

The senior officer of artillery of every division or detachment of the army, and of every garrison and post, and all keepers of magazines and arsenals, or other persons having charge of military stores, shall make returns quarterly to the commissary general of ordnance, agreeably to such forms as may be furnished by him.

The military stores above referred to are:

Fire arms of every description, with their equipments and accoutrements.

Ammunition, whether fixed or loose.

Laboratory stores and utensils.

Artificers' tools; and

All artillery carriages and machines: not to include camp equipage or barrack furniture.

Such returns shall be made by the commissary general as are required by law: and

6. Annual Estimates.

It shall be the duty of the commissary general of ordnance, to make out and render to the war department, yearly estimates of the powder, ordnance, cannon balls, shells, and shot, timber, and other materials for gun carriages and ammunition waggons, laboratory utensils, artificers' tools, &c. which shall be requisite for the service of the public.

PURCHASING DEPARTMENT.

1st. The commissary general of this department and his deputies will purchase upon the orders and estimates of the war department all ordnance, ordnance stores, laboratory utensils, artificers tools, artillery carriages, ammunition waggons, timber and othe materials for making and repairing these; artillery harness, ammunition, small arms, accoutrements, and equipments, clothing, dragoon saddles and bridles; tents, tent poles, camp kettles, mess pans, bed sacks, medicines, surgical instruments hospital stores, and all other articles required for the public service of the army of the U. States, excepting only such as are directed to be purchased by the quarter master general's department.

2d. The articles so purchased as aforesaid, shall (such as may require it) be carefully packed, and all be delivered over by the commissary general or by his deputies, to an officer of the quarter master general's department, for transportation to the places of their destination and use; and all parcels so packed, shall be legibly marked with the name of the place or places whither they are to be sent, and that of the detachment or corps for which they are intended, accompanied by an invoice of the articles contained in the said parcels.

3d. The commissary general of purchases, and his deputies, shall severally make and transmit monthly summary statements, to the secretary of war, and quarterly accounts of the purchases and deliveries, made by them, respectively, to the accountant of the war department, with the necessary vouchers, and agreeably to the forms which shall be prescribed by the treasury department.

Returns of Clothing, &c.

To enable the war department to furnish the orders and estimates as provided by the foregoing regulation, each regimental quarter master shall make and transmit, on or before the 1st day of December in each year, an estimate countersigned by the commanding officer of the regiment, of all such clothing, arms, accoutrements, equipments, and camp equipage, as may be necessary for the supply of the regiment for the ensuing year; with a return of the articles on hand, and a report of the condition in which they are.

July 9, 1813.

In the returns for clothing one column shall represent what is due to the detachment or regiment, one what is actually wanted, and a third, the articles, if any, on hand and in the custody of some officer of the detachment or regiment.

These returns shall be signed by the regimental quarter master, or officer doing that duty, and countersigned by the officer commanding regiments or corps.

Upon returns thus made, the commissary of issues will furnish such articles, and in such proportions, as the state of the public stores will permit.

No return will be made but for the clothing of men actually present.

DUTIES OF TOPOGRAPHICAL ENGINEERS AND THEIR ASSISTANTS.

To make such surveys, and exhibit such delineation of these, as the commanding general shall direct ; to make plans of all military positions (which the army may occupy) and of their respective vicinities, indicating the various roads, rivers, creeks, ravines, hills, woods and villages, to be found therein : to accompany all reconnoitering parties, sent out to obtain intelligence of the movements of the enemy, or of his positions, &c. ; to make sketches of their route, accompanied by written notices of every thing worthy of observation, thereon ; to keep a journal of every day's movement, when the army is in march, noticing the varieties of ground, of buildings, of culture, and the distances and state of the roads, between given points, throughout the march of the day ; and lastly, to exhibit the relative positions of the contending armies on fields of battle, and the dispositions made, whether for attack or defence.

HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

It shall be the duty of the physician and surgeon general to prescribe rules for the government of the hospitals of the army ; to see these enforced ; to appoint stewards and nurses ; to call for and receive returns of medicines, surgical instruments, and hospital stores ; to authorise and regulate the supply of regimental medicine chests ; to make out general half yearly returns of these, and of the sick (in hospitals) to the war department, and yearly estimates of what may be wanted for the supply of the army.

The apothecary general shall assist the physician and surgeon general in the discharge of the above mentioned duties, and shall receive and obey his orders in relation thereto.

MISCELLANEOUS RULES.

Each major general will appoint his aids-de-camp : each brigadier general will appoint his brigade major and aid-de-camp. No aid-de-camp shall be taken from a rank higher than that of a subaltern.

No officer shall be permitted to hold two staff appointments at the same time.

No surgeon of the army shall be engaged in private practice.

No officer, commissioned or non-commissioned, shall be the agent of a contractor.

Quarter masters of regiments, or of corps, will cause the company provision returns to be consolidated and carried to the commanding officers of regiments and of detachments or brigades, for their signatures. Abstracts of these, furnished and presented by the contractors, will be signed by officers commanding brigades (or separate posts) and will thus become vouchers for the contractors.

No furlough shall be given during a campaign; nor any, but by the general commanding the district or army, and for the cause of disability, which disability shall be certified by a regimental or hospital surgeon.

Furloughs shall, beside expressing the term of time granted to absentees, express also an order to join the regiment, post or garrison, to which they may belong.

No order shall be given to officers seeking a furlough for their own convenience, which shall have the effect of entitling them to an allowance for transportation of baggage.

All discharges given to soldiers by generals commanding separate detachments, shall specify the causes of discharge.

All officers, whatever may be their rank, passing through a garrison town or established military post, shall report their arrival at such town or post, to the commanding officer, by written notice if the officer arriving be elder in rank, and personally if he be younger in rank than the officer commanding.

All officers arriving at the seat of government, will in like manner, report to the adjutant and inspector general.

Regulation of November 1, 1808.

Officers of the cavalry will be allowed money in lieu of forage, under the rule which governs in the allowance to officers of other corps, to wit : twelve dollars to a colonel, eleven dollars to a lieutenant colonel, &c.

Captains and subalterns of that corps are not to be allowed forage or money in lieu thereof, until ordered to be mounted.

May 1, 1813.

RULES WITH REGARD TO MILITIA DRAFTS.

1st. All militia detachments in the service of the United States, must be made under the requisition of some officer of the U. States (to be hereafter authorised to make such requisition) on the executive authority of the state, or of the territory, from which the detachments shall be drawn.

2d. In these requisitions shall be expressed the number of privates, non-commissioned and commissioned officers, required, which shall be in the same proportions to each other, as obtain in the regular army. The looser method of requiring regiments or brigades, will be discontinued.

3d. So soon as one hundred privates, eleven non-commissioned and five commissioned officers, shall have been organised, as a company, under any requisition as aforesaid, they will be mustered, and inspected, by an inspector general, or his assistant, or some other officer of the army of the United States, thereto specially appointed; upon whose rolls and reports they will be entitled to pay, &c.

4th. It shall be the duty of the officer so mustering and inspecting militia detachments, to make immediate report thereof to the war department, and

5th. Payment will be made through the regimental paymaster in all cases in which the corps shall be organised as a regiment; and in all cases in which it shall fall short of the number necessary to that organisation, by the paymaster accompanying the army or division to which it may belong.

CHANGES IN THE UNIFORM OF THE ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The coat of the infantry and artillery shall be uniformly blue, no red collars or cuffs: and no lace shall be worn by any grade, excepting in epaulettes and sword knots.

All officers will wear coats of the length of those worn by field officers; all the rank and file will wear coatees. The button holes of these will be trimmed with tape on the collar only. Leather caps will be substituted for felt, and worsted or cotton pompons for feathers.

General officers and all others of the general staff, not otherwise directed, shall wear cocked hats without feathers, gilt bullet buttons, and button-holes in the herring-bone form.

The epaulettes of major generals will have on the gold ground of each strap, two silvered stars.

The epaulettes of brigadiers will have on each strap one star.

The uniform of the physician and surgeon, and apothecary generals, and hospital surgeons and mates, shall be black, the coats with standing collars, and on each side of the collar, a star of embroidery, within half an inch of the front edge.

The rules with respect to undress, are dispensed with, excepting that cockades must always be worn.

OF THE GENERAL STAFF.

The coat—Single breasted, with 10 buttons, and button holes worked with blue twist, in front, 5 inches long at the top and 3 at the bottom. The standing collar to raise to the tip of the ear, which will determine its width. The cuffs, not less than $3\frac{1}{2}$ nor more than 4 inches wide. The skirts faced with blue, the bottom of each not more than 7 nor less than $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide; the length to reach to the bend of the knee. The bottom of the breast and two hip buttons to range.

1. On the collar one blind hole 5 inches long, with a button on each side.
2. The blind holes on each side of the front, in the herring bone form, to be in the same direction with the collar, from the top to the bottom.
3. Blind holes (in the like form) to proceed from 4 buttons, placed lengthwise, on each skirt. A gilt star, on the centre of the bottom, 2 inches from the edge.
4. The cuffs, to be indented within $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch of the edge, with 4 buttons lengthwise on each sleeve, and holes to the three upper buttons corresponding with the indentation of the cuff, on the centre of which is to be inserted the lower button.
5. All general officers will be permitted to embroider the button holes. The commissary general of ordnance, the adjutants, inspectors, and quarter masters general, and the commissary general of purchases, will be permitted to embroider the button holes of the collar only.

Vest, breeches and pantaloons—White (or buff for general officers)—blue pantaloons may be worn in the winter and nankeen in the summer. Vests single breasted without pocket flaps.

1. Breeches, or pantaloons, with 4 buttons on the knees, and gilt knee buckles.
2. High military boots and gilt spurs.

Black stock—of leather or silk.

Chapeaus—of the following form; the fan not less than $6\frac{1}{2}$ nor more than 9 inches high in the rear, nor less than 15 nor more than $17\frac{1}{2}$ inches from point to point, bound round the edge with black binding an $\frac{1}{2}$ inch wide.

1. Button and loop, black.
2. Cockade, the same, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter, with a gold eagle in the centre.

Swords—Yellow mounted, with a black or yellow gripe. For the officers of the adjutant, inspector, and quar master general's departments, sabres; for all others, straight swords.

Waist Belts—of black leather. No sashes.

Epaulettes—of gold; according to rank.

Note.—Officers of the corps of engineers will wear the uniform already established for that corps.

The dress of the hospital staff will conform as to fashion, to the uniform of the staff, except that they will wear pocket flaps, and buttons placed across the cuffs, four to each, and covered buttons in all instances, of the color of the coat, (black.)

Officers of the line appointed to a staff station, which confers no additional rank, will wear the uniform of their rank in the line, with high boots and spurs.

OF THE ARTILLERY.

Coat—of the same general description with that of the staff; and

1. Pocket flaps, cross indented below, not less than $2\frac{1}{2}$ nor more than 3 inches wide, with 4 buttons and blind holes; two buttons at the opening of the pocket of each skirt; and a diamond of blue cloth, ornamented $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch on each side, the centre two inches from the bottom of the coat.
2. The blind holes on either side of the front, with the coat buttoned close to the collar, accurately to form lines with the corresponding ones opposite, from the top to the bottom, i. e. not to represent herring bone.
3. The cuffs with four blind holes, extending from four buttons placed across on each.
4. Two blind holes on the collar, 5 inches long, with two buttons on each side.
5. Gilt buttons of the size and insignia furnished the commissary general of purchases from the war department.

Vests, breeches, and pantaloons—for the field and staff, the same as those described for the general staff: and vests and pantaloons, for the officers of the line, the same, except the 1st and 2d particular articles.

Stocks and Chapeaus—of the same general description with those of the general staff:

1. Button and loop of the chapeau, yellow.
2. Black cockade of leather, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter with a gold eagle in the centre. A white feather to rise 8 inches; that of the adjutant, white and red.

Swords—cut and thrust, yellow mounted; with a black or yellow gripe.

Waist Belts—of white leather.

Sashes—to be worn only on a tour of duty, and round the waist.

Epaulettes—of gold (bullion and strap) according to rank. The adjutant, quarter master, and paymaster, to wear a counter strap on the opposite shoulder.

The surgeons and mates, to include garrison surgeons and mates, will wear the same uniform except the cape, which is of black velvet; the plume black.

OF THE INFANTRY.

The same as that pointed out for the officers of artillery, with the following exceptions:

The sword of the sabre form and with mounting silver or plated. For the medical staff, small swords.

Epaulettes, buttons, spurs, buckles, and trimmings, silver or plated, and caps may be worn on duty.

Women (in the proportion of 1 to every 17 men) a ration in kind, also to matrons and nurses allowed in hospitals.

NOTE.—Though forage may be allowed for the number of horses noted, yet money in lieu thereof cannot. A distinction should therefore be drawn, say forage-money for one horse only, to all those of the staff, who have not been entitled, heretofore, to more than ten dollars per month. The brigade major, aid to a brigadier, and adjutant, are expressly limited to that. The allowance of forage in kind, hay, oats, and corn, may be made to as many horses in actual service as the War Department directs.

Commanding officers of separate posts additional rations, at the discretion of the President.

Officers who actually keep waiters not of the army, are allowed to draw money in lieu of subsistence; and agreeably to the act of the 12th of April, 1808, it will be estimated at twenty cents per ration.

Major generals are entitled to six waiters; brigadier generals, four; colonels, three; lieutenant colonels, majors, and hospital surgeons, two; and all other commissioned officers, one each.

The vouchers required for charges under this allowance and the provisions of the act of the 6th July, 1812, will be, the certificate of the officer that he actually employed and kept in service the number of waiters charged, not of the army; and that he did not, during the term so charged, keep or employ as waiters or servants, soldiers from the line of the army.
